AGENDA

9.00	Opening Remarks
	TOOLS OF THE TRADE: THE BANKERS' FORUM Our panel of leading distribution and syndication bankers go head to head to share: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How to get the most from the product across capital relief, risk mitigation and capacity • Impact of Basel III & IV regulations and how these will threaten capital relief? If banks have to allocate more assets to asset-based finance, what will the role of insurance be? Is this an opportunity to insure more, or a challenge to the market as regulation won't allow it? • Is the market keeping up with demand in terms of capacity and appetite? • What are banks buying for, where do they see opportunities? How do they see insurance internally? How does this compare to the ECA market? • What are banks trying to achieve with wording softening on policies? Will they be able to revise tried and tested templates to get them closer to guarantees? • Can products become more efficient through the use of technology and policy standardisation? Will this help banks reduce costs in challenging times? • How is the rise in the use of credit insurance in securitisation structures for asset managers playing out? Lise Kessler, Global Head of Credit Risk Insurance, Crédit Agricole CIB Matthew Beckett, Director, Insurance Placement, Sumitomo Mitsui Banking Corporation (SMBC) Gary Lowe, Managing Director & Head, Global Credit Insurance Group, Standard Chartered Catherine Aubert, Head of Trade Credit & Political Risks Insurance, Societe Generale Boris Jaquet, EMEA Head, Distribution, Deutsche Bank
	GROWTH MARKET: CORPORATE USERS' OBSERVATIONS The market for insuring corporate risk is growing rapidly, we catch up with pioneers in the field to get their views: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • How do corporates view the product and when do they want to use it? At what point do they make the decision to buy insurance? • Do corporates use the product in a sophisticated manner for capital purposes? Can they? Or is it purely for risk mitigation? • Can corporates build stricter models, so the market understands they are acting out of company policy, rather than just bringing bad risk to the market? How would you incentivize corporate deal teams here? • How do insurance policies and their wordings for corporates differ from banks, can they be standardised, or do they need to be bespoke? Tim Gaul, Global Export and Agency Finance Director, Caterpillar Matthew Shires, Managing Director, Eurofinsa George Bellord, Director, BPL

	CRUCIAL INSIGHT: A REGULATORY UPDATE Moving on from the PRA conversations the EBA and Basel IV pose very real changes to the status quo and the banks' ability to use insurance for capital relief, we address: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The impact of the finalisation of Basel III/IV on banks' use of credit insurance as effective and efficient credit risk mitigation (CRM) • Educating regulators: efforts by ITFA, ICISA and others to inform regulatory authorities of the benefits of insurance as CRM • Regulatory impact: recent statements by the PRA, EBA on credit insurance and their impact on banks' use of the product • The importance of revisions to master risk participation agreements and trade (BAFT and ITFA) • Importance of insurance for trade, bank lending and the real economy: what data would be useful and what data is available? Audrey Zuck, Director, A2Z Risk Services Jean-Maurice Elkouby, Managing Director, Syndicated Finance, ING Olivier Paul, Head of Policy, ICC Banking Commission	WORKSHOP SESSION: HARNESSING THE INSURANCE PRODUCT <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Ask the market; in this closed door, confidential workshop, underwriters, brokers and fellow buyers will answer any questions you have on the product, claims and the impact of regulatory changes • Learn how sophisticated buyers on the bank, corporate and trader side are harnessing the full potential of the product to aid in distribution and capital relief • How to develop meaningful partnerships with brokers and underwriters so you can unlock new projects • Private market myths debunked; common misconceptions explained Ralph Lerch, Senior Vice President - International Trade & Export Finance, DZ Bank Ramona Homfeld, Vice President, KfW IPEX-Bank

THE VANGUARD: A REINSURANCE VIEWPOINT

- Latest business models and how the reinsurance market views CPRI, ECA debt and commercial tranches
- Reinsurance capacity and appetite, update on reinsurance treaties
- Will we see a cycle where prices harden, and global reinsurance prices rise?
- The effect price rises in the catastrophe and property market will have on appetite for the CPRI market

SATISFYING DEMAND: COMMODITY TRADERS' FORUM

- Are the banks receiving much demand from traders?
- How are large traders and producers using insurance for balance sheets, risk mitigation and working capital management?
- How do traders view China and the current trade war environment, what is the insurance market's response?
- Insurance appetite for West African oil prepayments; how do you model this to allow for capacity?
- Insurance appetite for soft commodities
- Insurance appetite in difficult emerging markets in Asia, Africa, LatAm and MENA

Saqib Mustafa, Executive Director - Structured Trade & Receivable Finance, Santander

PUBLIC FACE: INTEGRATION WITH THE ECA, DFI AND AGENCY MARKET - REINSURANCE AND COMMERCIAL TRANCHES

- Understanding the role of reinsurance from an ECA perspective and how it can be strategic
- Update on US EXIM's use of reinsurance to front a transaction that doesn't meet local content rules and how this will open up new business lines
- Will the wording of insurance and reinsurance policies move closer to an ECA guarantee to create better harmony?
- How does the Middle East, as the largest outbound ECA market, largely governed by Islamic finance, work with the insurance market?
- Rise of non-trade related insurance and how the private market can fill the place of the ECA?
- The market for DFI risk and reinsurance
- What is market capacity for the reinsurance of long-term risk?
- Differing appetite between contract frustration on sovereign defaults and credit insurance with privately owned companies

INSURING INFRASTRUCTURE INVESTORS IN EMERGING MARKETS: PRIVATE VS PUBLIC SOLUTIONS

For investors, lenders and developers investing in infrastructure in foreign nations, political risks include project cancellation due to regime change (as with Mexico Airport), currency inconvertibility or transfer restrictions; asset confiscation, expropriation or nationalisation, sanctions and payment defaults.

Here we look at political risk insurance for investors in projects in both public and private, where equity and debt providers can cover against loss when financing developers in overseas projects.

The investment criteria of public insurers and the high costs of private insurance can be a barrier to investors and lenders. This panel will discuss how infrastructure investors can adopt de-risking strategies in politically sensitive geographies and markets and how private market insurance products can layer with public insurance products to make emerging market investments possible.
