ECA CEO Panel: Product innovation, flexibility and growing the customer base

The TXF World Fair revealed how well export finance survived the pandemic with ECAs stepping up to the challenge providing flexible solutions and digital processes to speed up efficiency and security, while existing users have been retained and new customers come to the fore. As we move beyond the pandemic how can we continue to push the boundaries, providing increased flexibility and innovation to help SMEs, emerging technologies and sustainable projects harness export finance?

Panel: A green and brown pipeline – the evolution of export finance in the energy transition

At the birth of a new sector how can ECAs step up to finance the energy transition? Where are we best placed to play a part and what industries, such as battery storage, will we champion? What is the role of green debt and the green loan market, and how will ECA products evolve to suit? Will we see an increased meeting of export and project finance?

16.45 CEST

Headline deals: Outlook for mega projects

The ECA market is historically underpinned by a few headline grabbing mega deals each year. What do these say about our market? Will we see more of these in recovery? Every market has several of these massive projects. What drives them? Are they government driven natural resource plays? Will the drive towards sustainability and social projects see a shift to more deals with smaller volumes? Or will the energy transition and resilient infrastructure projects replace existing carbon heavy industries?

TXF Opening Remarks

9.20 CEST

Macroeconomic keynote: Plotting the course for a V-shaped recovery

With the economy bouncing back with confidence in the US, Europe and Asia, yet still at a precrisis level, and a less optimistic outlook in developing economies, we assess where we are in what has been billed a V-shaped recovery. What will be the effect of rising inflation? Will we see sustained levels of stimulus and for how long will they stay? With infrastructure investment tipped to be the tool for recovery, are we where we need to be?

Silvia Iranzo, Non-Executive Director & ICO. Chair of Sustainability Committee, INDRA

9.45 CEST

The corporate perspective: A product fit for purpose

The counter cyclical nature of the product bodes well for appetite for ECA backed debt, and we catch up with key borrowers and exporters to understand their balance sheet requirements and what banks and ECAs can do help them get more projects over the line. With increased flexibility developed over the pandemic, how can we further tweak the product to make it fit for purpose?

TESTIMONIALS

I am super impressed with what you guys have put together - this is cutting edge and looks really good. Please tell the team well done! And so far I am in two meetings to do proposals for projects!

Mark Taylor, MD, TEMAMII

I am continuously impressed with everything you guys do and this event was no different. I really enjoyed tuning in and stayed up way past my bedtime to take part in many of the sessions

Abbey Sturrock, Senior Vice President, MARSH JLT SPECIALTY

I'd like to say how impressed I was, I thought TXF's inaugural virtual event was brilliantly organised and very well executed. Well done all the TXF team for blazing the trail into the future!

Tanya Epshteyn, Head of Structured Finance, CZARNIKOW

Just a quick note to congratulate you for last week's event. It was a great success from the numbers you have shown and certainly I very much enjoyed it. You have been adapting to the challenging circumstances better than anybody else, mastering quickly the virtual-conference technology, without losing your signature humorous touch (particularly appreciated given the times!), confirming your leadership in the industry.

Valentino Gallo, Partner, PARTNER

Very exciting platform for the conference! TXF, thank you for this amazing opportunity to have such an event during this challenging time

Tatyana Zakharova, Managing Director REC & EXIAR Finance, Trade and Export Finance, VTB BANK

We've all been impressed with the virtual conferences - both the website / virtual hosting site and the content, so congratulations. We really loved the proximity of the panel sessions when done by Zoom with pics.

Nigel Scott, Managing Director - Global Head Structured Trade Commodity Finance, SUMITOMO MITSUI BANKING CORPORATION (SMBC)

Well done, TXF Team! Love the creativity to keep us entertained :). Gold medals all the way through, I'd say

Eva Steinhaus, Director, GERMAN EMIRATI JOINT COUNCIL FOR INDUSTRY & COMMERCE (AHK)
