Trends for 2022: Flight to quality, high-demand for alternative finance and cautious bankers

Over the past few years there have been great changes in APAC commodities: major losses suffered by commodities banks as a result of defaults and price fluctuations, high-profile fraud cases and the newly introduced ABS code of conduct.

Following this period of change, this panel will consider how the industry will proceed.

- Flight to quality and the knock-on effect for traders
- Price swings requiring increased working capital demands
- The availability of additional liquidity channels
- The mid-term growth outlook for MAS regulated banks
- Are we moving away from a China-centric market

Navigating flight to quality from the outside

With banks scaling back on commodities finance, streamlining their portfolios and cherry picking their clients, mid-size and SMEs are left looking for other liquidity channels whilst also feeling the increased pressure of compliance.

This panel of traders will look at ways of managing the liquidity squeeze including:

- Diversifying liquidity channels
- Considering alternative sources of finance, local and regional banks
- Reducing costs within the business
- Managing your exposure

Gopul Shah, Director, Corporate Treasury and Structured Trade Finance, Golden Agri Resources

Axel Hauke, Treasurer, Agrocorp International

Suraj Aggarwal, Group CFO, Dreymoor Fertilizers Overseas

Carrot or stick? Limited liquidity as leverage for ESG compliance

Reduced portfolio sizes allow banks to cherry pick their clients and to prioritise ESG compliance.

Long-term clients have lost finance for failing to meet new ESG standards set by banks which further exacerbates issues around liquidity.

- How are ESG standards implemented and monitored?
- What is the impact of digitalisation on monitoring and compliance
- Reporting mechanisms
- Pricing incentives
